

VIRGINIA NEWS

John W. Hottel, aged 45 years, Commissioner of Revenue of Johnston district, Shenandoah county, committed suicide by shooting himself yesterday. Homesickness for his farm is said to have been the cause.

The Shenandoah river, near his home, and the Massanutten Mountains, several miles away, are being dragged and scoured in an effort to locate William B. Ramey, 80 years of age, who disappeared Monday from his home at Hamburg, Page county.

Miss Sue Stewart, a trained nurse, was killed last night in a confectionery store at Clifton Forge, when she fell and fractured her skull. In company with some friends she had stopped for refreshments and while waiting to be served became dizzy and fell. Her struck the floor, fracturing her skull.

Lester Harnsberger, teacher at Pine Knot School, was fined $5 in a magistrate's court in Harrisonburg, for whipping Reese Maiden, a student, who was just recovering from appendicitis. Maiden got in a fight with a fellow-pupil at commencement and was given a whipping the next day. The teacher will appeal to the Circuit Court.

Dr. T. H. McKeown, of Congress Heights, D. C., an inspector connected with the department of animal industry, Washington, died last night in Petersburg, from injuries received yesterday afternoon when a tire blowout caused an automobile which he was driving to turn over. Dr. McKeown has been in Petersburg inspecting the dairy conducted by the Central State Hospital and was on his way to Southerland, to inspect a dairy.

D. H. Ford 50 years old, a native of South Richmond, hurled himself beneath the wheels of an Atlantic Coast Line shifting engine at the Maury Street crossing last night and was instantly killed. A letter was found on the person of the dead man, which stated that family troubles recently had proved too grievous to bear. It instructed Undertaker Morrisette what kind of coffin to use for the remains, told him where the body was to be buried, made arrangements for the payment of the burial and funeral expenses, designated the pallbearers, and asked that a floral design, which was described, should be provided.

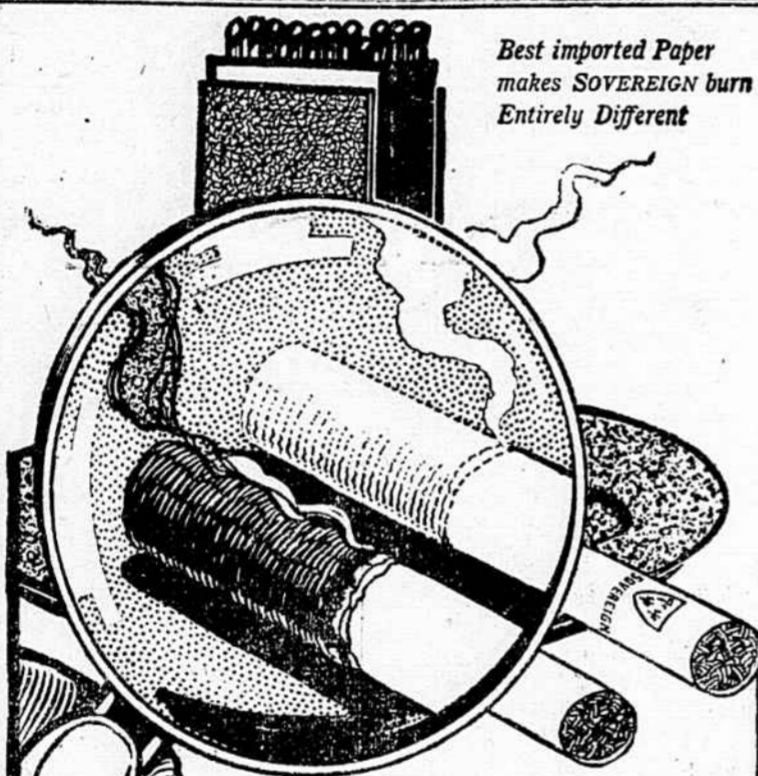

A. Eisenstein and S. Bernstein, both of Philadelphia, were sentenced by Judge Waddill, in the District Court of the United States in Richmond yesterday afternoon to serve terms in the Federal prison for one year and one day and for 18 months, respectively, and to pay fines of $500 and $1,000, respectively. They were charged with one, Lipman, now serving a term in the Federal prison at Leavenworth for violation of the mails, with having conspired in bankruptcy proceedings of Eisenstein otherwise to cheat creditors. The case against Lipman was not prosecuted.

Capt. Arthur Mason Chichester, one of the best known and most influential citizens of the Leesburg section of Virginia, died at Ivon, Tuesday after an illness of some weeks. He was the son of George Mason and Mary Bowie Chichester and was born in Leesburg eighty-five years ago. Capt. Chichester served throughout the civil war as captain of engineers in Gen. Longstreet's corps of the Confederate army; He married Miss Mary Reverley of the Plains, Fauquier county, Va., who died several years ago. Three sons and three daughters survive him—Arthur Mason Chichester, Jr., and Bradshaw Beverley Chichester of Leesburg, George Mason Chichester and Mrs. Joseph Fox of Philadelphia, Mrs. Wilcox Jenkins of Norfolk and Mrs. Frederick Page of Leesburg.

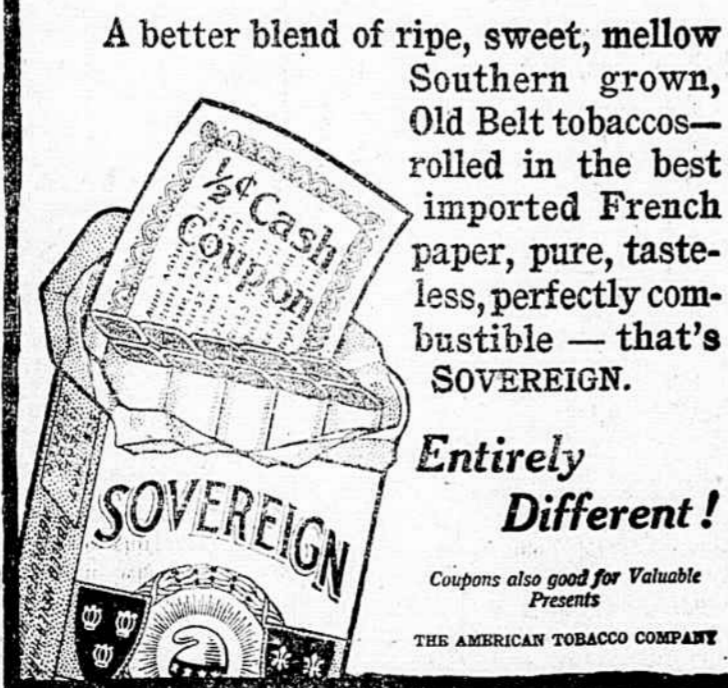

The "wet" and "dry" issue is to be injected into the primary election of June 6 through the candidacy of Attorney Ben L. Rosenbloom, of Wheeling, W. Va., for the Republican nomination for United States Senator. Mr. Rosenbloom, who is a member of the State Senate, made public tonight a letter addressed to Secretary of State Reed, accompanying a check for $500 to cover his assessment, in which he announced that his platform will be opposition to national prohibition.
